This workshop is a continuation of the day-long workshop on OUN that was organized at the NRN 4th Regional Conference in Houston in May 2010.

The objective of the workshop is to review the progress made to date, devise concrete action plan, identify potential funding sources, seek institutional partners for collaboration, and formulate the next steps towards a comprehensive business plan.

The core proponents of the OUN Initiative Dr. Pramod Dhakal, Dr. Ambika Adhikari and Dr. Drona Rasali will present a conceptual framework on overall structure, setting, academic programs and business plans. Included will be the key findings from the earlier OUN Workshop held in Houston, USA.

A group of distinguished academics and intellectuals from Nepali Diaspora in North America will explore various aspects involved in making the proposed initiative a success.

A number of invited international academic planners and officials from North America and Nepal will provide inputs from their institutional experiences pertaining to this initiative.

H.E. Ambassador of Nepal to Canada Dr. Bhojraj Ghimire will provide the keynote speech highlighting the insights into government initiatives towards establishing an open university in Nepal.
